

Botanical Essence Layered Flower Card with...

6 MARCH 2026

A beautiful card combining stamped abstract backgrounds with layered die-cut flowers in coordinating colours. The card features dimensional flowers built up in layers with sentiment text, creating an artistic, gallery-worthy piece.

WHAT YOU WILL NEED

See the show for everything used.

Take a piece of white card stock and stamp the abstract background stamp using a light grey ink pad, positioning it to add subtle detail without overwhelming the design.

Select coordinating papers from the collection and cut out three matching flower designs in different sizes, with the largest being the full flower and progressively smaller versions with petals removed.
Watch this step: 50:30 into the show

Layer the three flower pieces on top of each other, starting with the largest at the base, to create dimension and a cascading effect.

Gently manipulate the layered flower by pinching the petals and lifting the corners to add natural shaping and movement to the blooms.

Watch this step: 52:00 into the show

Stamp one of the coordinating sentiment words onto the card using the flowy font die or stamp, positioning it at the bottom of the design.

Watch this step: 54:00 into the show

Adhere the layered flower to the card using foam pads or adhesive, positioning it as your focal point.

TIPS FROM THE SHOW

- You can add ink blending to the flower layers to give them texture and depth before assembling them.
- The papers are so good quality that simply adding heat and manipulating them will create natural rotation and movement in the petals.
- Don't worry about making it perfect—the artistic element comes from your own unique style and colour choices.
